

Exploiting pi-pi interactions to design efficient sorbent for atrazine removal from water

Omar K. Farha

Department of Chemistry, Northwestern University

ABSTRACT

Efficient removal of atrazine from contaminated water supplies is paramount. Here, we evaluated the atrazine affinity of an assortment of water-stable metal–organic frameworks (MOFs) and investigated the mechanism governing atrazine adsorption.